First KOIAS Fellows Meeting

On September 17, 2025, KOIAS held its first KOIAS Fellows Meeting, welcoming current fellows Manuela Salazar and Maximilian Müller to the community. The meeting introduced the KOIAS fellowship funded by the JSPS Core-to-Core program and provided an opportunity to exchange ideas and prospects for Atmospheric Studies. From this semester onward, KOIAS Fellows Meetings will be held twice a month, creating a regular space for Fellows, KOIAS members, and interested participants to meet, think together, and build community. The conversation continued informally over drinks after the event.

Kobe Institute for Atmospheric Studies

KOIAS Fellows

First meeting

17 SEPTEMBER, 2025 (WED) - 16H TO 17H30
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES - SEMINAR ROOM A422

This will be our first KOIAS Fellows meeting, welcoming our current KOIAS fellows Manuela Salazar and Maximilian Müller to our community. The meeting will be an opportunity to present the KOIAS fellowship funded by the Core-to-Core program, introduce ourselves, get to know one another, and exchange ideas about our shared prospects in Atmospheric Studies.

After the meeting, we will continue the conversation informally over drinks for those who wish to join.
